

AMERICAN RIVER MARINE ESTUARY

American River, also called Pelican Lagoon, is a marine estuary on Kangaroo Island in South Australia. It is part of Encounter Marine Park and includes Pelican Lagoon Sanctuary Zone, an area that has been continuously protected since 1914. This estuary is a hotspot for marine biodiversity. It is a significant site for shorebirds, seabirds, and fish, thanks to the varied habitats that it provides.

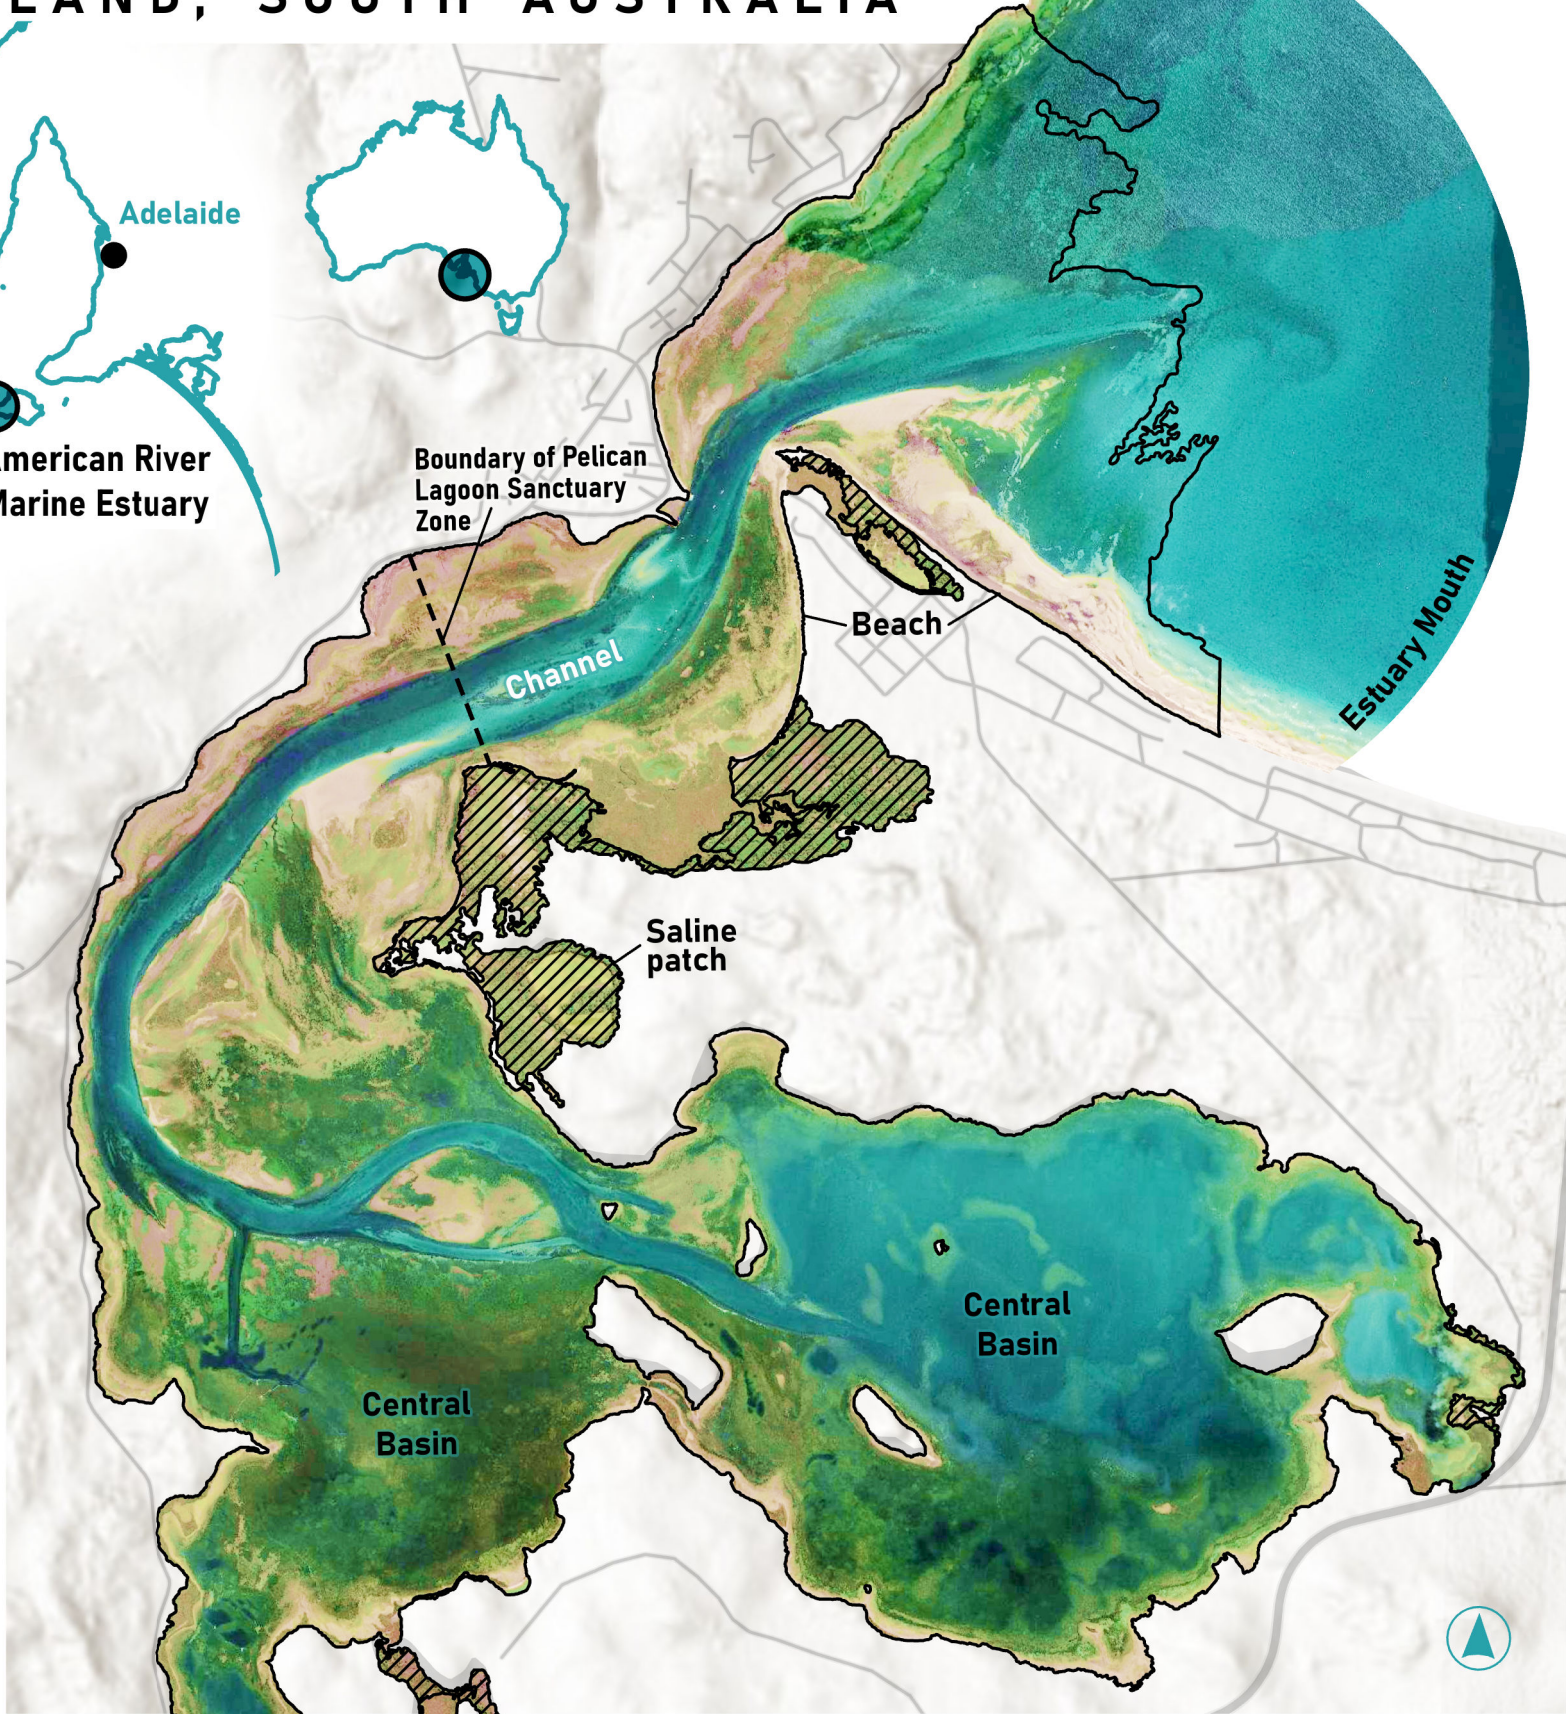

KANGAROO ISLAND, SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Cover Type

- | | | |
|------------------|---------------------------------|-----------|
| Seagrass | Samphire / Atriplex / Grassland | Grassland |
| Seagrass / Algal | Sand | Bare |
| Samphire | Melaleuca / Sedges | |

Tidal Class

- | |
|----------------|
| Intertidal |
| Supratidal |
| Stranded Tidal |

This map was created by Your Name on Current Date, following the tutorial Design a layout in ArcGIS Pro. The coordinate system is GDA 1994 Australia Albers.

The data is derived from Estuarine Habitats of South Australia, a dataset provided by the Government of South Australia, Department for Environment and Water. Other data sources include: CIA World Factbook, National Geographic Society, Esri, TomTom, Garmin, Foursquare, METI/ NASA, USGS, Esri, Geoscience Australia, NASA, NGA, USGS, and Maxar.